

Conducting a Comprehensive Survey of Publishing Activity at Your Institution

18 May 2016
Library Publishing Forum
#LPForum

Meredith Kahn | @m_kahn
Christina Najla LaRose
University of Michigan

Why did we conduct a survey of campus publishing activities?

@m_kahn

“Through what sources of existing funds might an institutional subvention model be funded?”

“Are there sources of funds currently devoted to support for humanities publishing that could be allocated to this model?”

“What is the magnitude of such funding, and what are possible consequences of redeployment?”

---

Why might you want to conduct a similar exercise on your own campus?

Refine your service offerings.

Demonstrate relevance to your campus community.

Find new publishing partners.

Ensure the longevity of your publishing program.

---

Let's go find some campus publishing activity!

“It’s complicated.”

@m_kahn

RESOURCES | MICHIGAN SLAVIC PUBLICATIONS

RESOURCES

Intensive Language Programs

Language Learning Sites

Language Resource Center

Michigan Slavic Publications

All Publications

Placement Tests

Related Programs

Russian Tea

Slavic Waitlist Policy

Student Organizations

Tutors & Translators

Michigan Slavic Publications

Michigan Slavic Publications (MSP) is a non-profit organization associated with the Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures of the University of Michigan. Our goal is to publish titles that substantially aid the study and teaching of Slavic and East European languages and cultures.

MSP was originally founded by Ladislav Matejka. To date some one hundred titles have been published, including those by scholars and authors such as Jakobson, Ivic, Lotman, Milosz, Trubetzkoy, Wellek, and others.

All of our titles are available for purchase (view booklist here). Purchase price is indicated in the "Additional Information" portion for each book. Domestic shipping is $4.00 for the first book, and $0.50 each additional. We offer a 30% discount on two or more books. Please email us at michsp@umich.edu.

THE FINISHED WORK

The Bear River Review

- Current Issue
- Back Issues

Success Stories

Current Issue

To order current or past issues of the Bear River Review, fill out this form.

The Bear River Review 2014 is available for order!

You can also order copies of the 2010, 2011, 2012, and 2013 issues.

Please let us know if you have any concerns about ordering the Review by sending an email to Jessica Willard at bearriver@umich.edu.

Bear River Writers' Conference

📍 3187 Angell Hall
435 South State Street
Ann Arbor, MI 48109-1003
✉ bearriver@umich.edu

☎ 734-763-2342
📄 734-763-3128
Sitemap

Center for Local, State, and Urban Policy

M | Ford School

SEARCH:

People
Events
Michigan Public Policy Survey
Energy &amp; Environmental Policy Initiative
National Surveys on Energy &amp; Environment
CLOSUP in the Classroom
Research
Publications
Resources
Join Mailing List

CLOSUP > Publications > Working Papers >

Building Affordable Housing in Cities after Abandonment: The Case of Low-Income Housing Tax Credit Developments in Detroit

« Return to working paper listing

June 2011
Lan Deng, University of Michigan

Abstract

This paper examines affordable housing developments supported by the Low Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) program and how they have contributed to neighborhood redevelopment in the city of Detroit. For cities like Detroit that have long suffered from disinvestment and abandonment, building subsidized affordable housing offers one of few opportunities to channel resources into neighborhoods. In Detroit, the LIHTC funding supported the rehabilitation of over 6,000 housing units and produced over 5,000 new housing units from 1990 to 2007, about half of the new housing stock the city added. In examining the possible neighborhood impacts generated by the LIHTC projects, the study finds that half of the LIHTC neighborhoods experienced more improvement in their socioeconomic status than their comparison groups, while the other half lagged behind. An examination of the spatial distribution of these neighborhoods reveals a strong relationship between the concentration of the LIHTC investment and the types of changes experienced by their neighborhoods.

Download the report

Other Working Papers Series at UM

- See working papers series with relevance to local, state and/or urban policy from around the University of Michigan

Guidelines for the CLOSUP Working Papers Series

- See the CLOSUP Working Papers guidelines

We found stuff!
Now what?

Put some bounds on the universe of publishing activities you're interested in discovering.

Explore alternative methodologies given your own campus context.

Thanks!

@m_kahn

Image Credits

“Cat Phone” by Denis Sazhin, CC BY 3.0 US

“Cat Search” by Denis Sazhin, CC BY 3.0 US

“Reading Cat” by Denis Sazhin, CC BY 3.0 US

“Cat Suit” by Denis Sazhin, CC BY 3.0 US

---